Wien Tourismus / Christian Stemper

Vienna fires our imagination with sweeping waltzes and balls at the Opera, beautiful buildings, the Spanish Riding School and traditional cafés. That being said, even with all this history and tradition, Vienna also has a very different side – its young, trendy and creative side. In the Freihausviertel, creativity thrives and young designers and artists exhibit and sell their work.

Wien Tourismus / Christian Stemper

Vienna is old, Vienna is new – and so varied: from the magnificent Baroque buildings to “golden” Art Nouveau to the latest architecture. Vienna is a city of beauty and art not just because of the many buildings from the imperial age – there are the museums, collections and artworks of world-class renown. The city draws tourists with its dynamic mix of an imperial-nostalgic flair and an extremely creative cultural scene that sets contemporary trends as much as it takes responsible care of a valuable heritage and lovable traditions.

Schönbrunn Palace

A visit to Vienna’s most famous palace is a must for art lovers. The imperial family inhabited 1,441 rooms at Schönbrunn – you can still admire many of them today. In the Palace Gardens, architectural treasures await you, such as the Palm House and the Zoo, which has been named best zoo in Europe three times now. No wonder – it’s the visitors who now stand in the former lion cages while the animals romp around in modern enclosures. The Baroque building structures have been preserved with “Viennese Charm” and finesse. This, the oldest zoo in the world, which is especially successful at breeding elephants and panda bears, was built in 1752 by the husband of Maria Theresa, Emperor Franz I. ### The Prater & Giant Ferris Wheel

The Vienna Prater is an amusement park for many, place of nostalgic dreams for some, oasis of greenery for almost everyone – and the location of the Giant Ferris Wheel, one of Vienna’s most famous symbols. The Prater is open from March to October. But the world-famous Giant Ferris Wheel and a few other attractions are open year-round. More information on www.wien.info/en/sightseeing/prater

MuseumsQuartier

Vienna's MuseumsQuartier (MQ) is one of the ten largest cultural districts in the world. At the edge of the Old City, in the former imperial stables, it unites facilities highlighting different fields of art with restaurants, coffeehouses and shops in an area of 60,000 square meters with a combination of Baroque buildings and modern architecture. This has created a colorful and diverse local scene against the backdrop of significant museums and collections. After viewing works by Schiele, drop by Café Leopold, which inspires with its own DJ line-up on several evenings a week. In Café Restaurant HALLE, you can take a look at the furnishings from Vienna's trendy bar designers, Eichinger and Knechtl. The MQdaily invites you to stop by for a short break. The hustle and bustle on the large square can be best followed from here. ## Museum of Fine Arts Vienna (KHM)

Emperor Franz Joseph constructed the Vienna Museum of Fine Arts for the imperial collections and with its treasures it now ranks as one of the most important museums in the world. Objects from five centuries – from ancient Egypt and ancient Greece to the end of the 18th century – are evidence of the Habsburg emperors' and archdukes' passion for collecting. Here you can admire extraordinary artworks by Rubens, Rembrandt, Raphael, Vermeer, Velázquez, Titian and Dürer, to say nothing of the largest Bruegel collection in the world. Gustav Klimt, in collaboration with his brother Ernst and Franz Matsch, created a series of paintings housed in the magnificent staircase at a height of twelve meters above the museum's lobby, embedded between the columns and arcades. A cafe can be found in the spectacular domed hall.

EVENTS

Wien Tourismus / Karl Thomas

The attitude towards life that tourists look for nowadays is conveyed by the juxtaposition of the traditional, such as the coffee house and wine tavern that radiate Vienna's sense of appreciative serenity, and the cutting edge, such as internationally renowned events, from the Life Ball to the festival for electronic music: an offering that lets them between peace and quiet or action and stimulation at any time, as the mood takes them. All of this provides an extraordinarily packed program of events the whole year round, and makes the city one of the leading centers of entertainment and culture in Europe.

DO & SEE

Wien Tourismus / Lois Lammerhuber

Vienna has over 100 museums, great architecture in harmony between old and new design, 280 parks and gardens with over 400 species of roses during spring in Volksgarten.

Secession

Featuring a golden dome decorated with laurels, this Art Nouveau exhibition building was constructed in 1897/98 by Joseph Maria Olbrich, a student of Otto Wagner, and is one of the most famous structures in Vienna. The Beethoven Frieze created by Gustav Klimt in 1902 is on permanent display on the lower level. Rotating exhibitions feature contemporary art.

Belvedere Palace

With its magnificent gardens, this former residence of Prince Eugen von Savoyen is one of the most beautiful Baroque ensembles in the world and a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The Upper Belvedere houses the world's largest collection of paintings by Klimt, including the Art Nouveau icons "The Kiss" and "Judith." It also contains masterpieces by Schiele, Kokoschka, Waldmüller, Renoir, Monet and Van Gogh as well as important collections of works from the 19th and 20th centuries, the Baroque and the Middle Ages. Top-quality special exhibitions are put on in the Lower Belvedere and Orangery. And the exquisite Baroque garden between the two palaces offers an extraordinary view of Vienna.

Spanish Riding School

Founded in 1572, the Spanish Riding School has put on performances in the Baroque Winter Riding School since 1735. These shows represent the highest form of equestrian art. The Spanish Riding School in Vienna is the only institution in the world at which the classic equestrian art of the "High School" has been preserved and practiced unchanged since the Renaissance. At the gala shows, visitors can enjoy unique presentations by the Lipizzaner horses in the most beautiful riding hall in the world. The morning session offers an insight into the years of training that the riders and their Lipizzaners go through. ## Wien Museum

This museum presents Vienna's 2000-year history, from the Imperium Romanum to the residence of the Dukes of Babenberg and the 640 years of Habsburg rule to the present. The history of the construction of St. Stephen's Cathedral, detailed city views and furnishings from the Biedermeier era as well as magnificent paintings from artists such as Makart, Klimt and Schiele illustrate Vienna's cultural heritage.

The Wien Museum also has an exceptional Klimt collection that includes the world's largest collection of his drawings, comprising absolute masterpieces, sketches and preliminary outlines dating from all stages of his creative life.

Leopold Museum

With its 41 paintings and 188 works on paper, the Leopold Museum in Vienna's MuseumsQuartier has the world's largest and most significant collection of works by Egon Schiele. The comprehensive collection "Vienna 1900 and Art Nouveau" is another highlight of the Leopold Museum. The paintings by Schiele's mentor and paternal friend Gustav Klimt are especially noteworthy. A program of special exhibitions also presents large-scale shows of work by internationally famous artists. The offer is rounded off by a well-curated museum and a cafe with a patio that affords a view of the main courtyard of the MuseumsQuartier.

MAK - Austrian Museum of Applied Arts/Contemporary Art

As the home of the Wiener Werkstätte archives, the MAK Austrian Museum of Applied Arts/Contemporary Art is unique in its ability to represent the history and significance of the Wiener Werkstätte. The archive, which was donated to the MAK (Austrian Museum of Applied Arts) in 1955 by its last owner, Alfred Hofmann, comprises about 16,000 design drawings, including 5,500 from Josef Hoffmann, about 20,000 fabric samples, posters, postcard designs, model books, photo albums and business correspondence. One of the highlights of the MAK's collection is Gustav Klimt's nine-part working drawings for the mosaic frieze (around 1910) in the dining room of the Palais Stoclet in Brussels, which was designed by Josef Hoffmann. After a restoration process that took several years, this has again been on permanent display in the MAK as of 2012. The Palais Stoclet, which is considered one of the Wiener Werkstätte's most important works, was commissioned by Adolphe Stoclet and built in the Avenue de Tervuren from 1906-1911. It most clearly symbolizes the utopia of the Gesamtkunstwerk, one of the main concepts behind the Wiener Werkstätte.

Kunst Haus Wien

Friedensreich Hundertwasser created the Kunst Haus Wien with colorful tiles, tilted walls and uneven floors. Colorful surfaces and irregular shapes, often overgrown with rampant green, are waiting for you. Multi-colored surfaces, irregular shapes, often overgrown with rampant green: This was how the painter not only added new momentum to Vienna's architecture but also established an exhibition center that shows Hundertwasser's works along with rotating exhibitions of exciting contemporary art. The ground floor also contains a cafe/restaurant and a shop.

Albertina

The Albertina, the Habsburg's enormous collection of graphic arts, houses works by Dürer and Rubens along with masterpieces by Schiele, Cézanne, Klimt, Kokoschka,

Picasso and Rauschenberg. The show "Masterworks of Modernism: The Batliner Collection" is especially recommended. It illustrates the progression from Monet and Picasso to Gerhard Richter and Georg Baselitz and presents highlights from the last 130 years of art history. The Albertina also has a collection of architectural works and photos (including Helmut Newton and Lisette Model among others), which are on display in special exhibitions. ## Mumok - Museum of Modern Art Ludwig Foundation Vienna

The basalt stone building lets visitors experience art from the 20th century through to the present day. The collection is shown via changing exhibits of everything from classic modern art to the essential artistic genres of the 1960s and 1970s (Pop Art, Fluxus, Nouveau Réalisme, Minimal Art, Conceptual Art and Viennese Actionism) right up to current art pieces from the worlds of film, photography and video. Since 2011, a cinema has also been housed in the 4,800 m<sup>2</sup> building. It was designed by the artist Heimo Zobernig and presents the many connections between the visual arts and film.

Kunsthalle

The Kunsthalle displays international contemporary art. Located in the MuseumsQuartier and on Karlsplatz, it presents exhibitions focused primarily on photography, video, film, installation and new media. Themed exhibits convey developments and relationships from the modern era up to today's art scene. If you are travelling to Vienna and are interested in art, a visit to the Kunsthalle Wien should definitely be part of your plans. Kunsthalle Wien on Karlsplatz calls itself the flexible and experimental outdoor exhibition site. The glass cube by Adolf Krischanitz presents art as if it were in a display case, allowing a completely unique form of presentation. The cafe with its huge terrace invites visitors to stay a while after enjoying the art on display.

Vienna Boys' Choir

They thrill the concert-going public around the world, are described as Vienna's youngest ambassadors and make music with world class musicians. In Vienna, they regularly appear in the Chapel of the Imperial Palace and in their own new concert hall "MuTh," which was opened in 2012 and is located in the Augarten, right near their home in the Palais Augarten. The hall is fitted with all the latest sophisticated equipment and has space for 380 audience members. The hall is used as a rehearsal and performance venue for the Vienna Boys' Choir and as a center for music and theater for other children and young people. Collaborations are planned with established festivals, the Konzerthaus, the Vienna State Opera, Theater an der Wien and similar establishments.

House of the Sea

Schools of yellow, red and blue fish, green mambas and sharks: over 10,000 animals from every continent live in the aquariums, terrariums and the 20-meter-high tropical house with a waterfall, suspension bridge and mangrove landscape. The tropical house and Krokopark (crocodile park) also include free-flying birds as well as monkeys and crocodiles roaming freely, together with other animals suitable for this habitat. The terrarium houses poisonous and giant snakes, lizards, leaf-cutting ants and tarantulas. Another highlight since September 2013 is the 150,000-liter tank for the hammerhead sharks on the tenth floor of the former anti-aircraft tower. And a cafe on the 11th floor, which also opened at the same time, provides visitors with a breathtaking view of Vienna. The House of the Sea is housed in one of Vienna's six monumental anti-aircraft towers from the Second World War.

House of Music

The House of Music is a multi-media world of experience. Six floors invite you into the world of sound and noise phenomena.

Experimentation is called for here: visitors paint sounds with their fingers and direct the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. The world's most famous orchestra is presented here from the time that it was founded right up to the present day. The acoustic journey ranges from pre-natal hearing experiences to the development of the human ear and the first musical instruments right through to the sounds of the Cosmos. Geniuses such as Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and Johann Strauss are presented with original music scores, programs, costumes and personal items. On the top floor of the Sound Museum, the Restaurant Huth offers fine Austrian cuisine with a wonderful view over the rooftops of Vienna. The cafe-bar on the ground floor pampers with snacks for in between meals.

Danube Tower

The Danube Tower offers an unforgettable view of Vienna's Danube landscape, the Old City and the Vienna Woods from a height of up to 170 meters. The two express elevators take visitors to the viewing terrace and the two revolving cafe/restaurants in just 35 seconds. The Danube Tower also attracts visitors with its breathtaking bungee jumping. The Danube Tower was built in 1964 for the Vienna International Garden Festival, which is remembered today in the Danube Park. Large meadows, extensive jogging paths, children's play areas and flowerbeds offer a relaxing space for visitors.

The Imperial Palace

The Imperial Palace was the residence of the Habsburg emperor until 1918. From the 13th century until just before the end of the monarchy, the area was fitted out in its imperial splendor in its present-day size. The original gothic building around today's Schweizerhof was extended on a continuous basis, resulting in an expansive building complex formed of different sections, which contributes an essential character to the appearance of Vienna's Old City. Europe's largest imperial cultural complex today houses more than two dozen collections of international standing, including the Austrian National Library (www.onb.ac.at), Museum of Ethnology and the Imperial Treasury (www.khm.at), the Imperial Silver Collection, the Imperial Apartments and the Sisi Museum (www.hofburg-wien.at) as well as the Spanish Riding School (www.srs.at).

St. Charles' Church

A striking sacred building with a large cupola, and the last great work of Baroque city architect Johann Bernhard Fischer von Erlach. St. Charles' Church in the 4th district is a European Baroque masterpiece, with a symbolic design which documents the Habsburg claim to the entire empire with its use of classical architectural elements.

Museum of Natural History

Two museum buildings emerged from the construction of Vienna's Ringstrasse as monuments to the imperial collections, the Museum of Fine Arts and the Museum of Natural History. Embark on a journey through the breath-taking diversity of the natural world: from insects to precious stones and minerals to flying dinosaurs, you will experience fascinating insights into the history of our planet at this museum near the Imperial Palace. Numerous stuffed specimens of extinct species or species under serious threat make this an invaluable collection.

Imperial Treasury

The medieval part of the Imperial Palace, the Schweizerhof, contains the unique treasures of the Habsburgs, including the Austrian imperial crown and the crown jewels of the Holy Roman Empire with the imperial crown. Further highlights include the treasure of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the collections of the invaluable Burgundian treasures from the 15th century. Jewels belonging to the Habsburg empresses and archduchesses and pieces of the original jewelry belonging to Empress Elisabeth can also be seen here. You can also discover legendary treasures such as the Holy Lance of the 8th century, the largest cut emerald in the world and the horn of the fantastical unicorn.

Vienna State Opera

The Vienna State Opera is one of the most distinguished opera houses in the world. It stages around 50 operas and numerous ballets and premieres on 300 performance days from September to June. The splendid building on Ringstrasse was constructed between 1861 and 1869 in accordance with plans by August Siccard von Siccardsburg and Eduard van der Nüll as the k.k. Hofopertheater (Court Opera). You can take a tour to catch a glimpse of what goes on backstage at the magnificent opera house. For one night of the year the Vienna State Opera is transformed into a large dance floor for the Vienna Opera Ball, Austria's largest gathering of performers, politicians and businesspeople from all over the world.

DINING

Wien Tourismus / Karl Thomas

The Viennese still like to celebrate the good old days on a daily basis - e.g. with a hearty "Kaisersemmel" or when enjoying a Kaiserschmarrn dusted with powdered sugar. Viennese cuisine is the only type of cooking in the world that is named after a city. Vienna is also the only metropolis in the world that grows a significant enough amount of wine within city limits to warrant a mention. The Viennese coffee house is known around the globe for its informal pleasantness, as an oasis of "gemütlichkeit". No wonder that the bistro, wine tavern and cafe are the foundational pillars of Vienna's pleasurable food culture in all its enticing variety.

Palm House

Where Vienna's imperial charm meets the latest trends. The attractive Art Nouveau building offers good cuisine, great cocktails and has become an institution for locals and visitors alike.

The terrace looks directly onto the Burggarten, and spaces on the sun terrace are in high demand when the weather is good. Inside the former greenhouse, guests dine in real style amongst exotic plants and relax over a good glass or two of wine or a fine cocktail.

Motto

This restaurant has been a successful hot spot on the Viennese dining scene for years. International stars like to mingle here with the beautiful people among the "Motto guests." The priority from an architectural point of view is on a cozy feel, even though the furnishings may strike the visitor as being a little palatial and opulent. The menu is also worth a look: The dishes are seasonally created and value is placed on the incorporation of regional products. The food ranges from Viennese specialties such as Schinkenfleckerl through to Asian fusion cuisine.

Motto creates a unique atmosphere with culinary delights which cannot be found in this combination anywhere else but in Vienna.

Naschmarkt Deli

Visitors to the Naschmarkt can enjoy its atmosphere particularly well at the Deli on Saturdays. The Deli is a popular spot on the Vienna scene. It's not only at lunchtime that there's plenty going on: it also attracts a large crowd in the evenings. It's the ideal spot for visitors to take a break from their walk through the Naschmarkt for a quick bite, a cozy meal (generally Asian-inspired) or just an espresso.

ON Market

The top-class Asian establishment enhances the area around the Naschmarkt – both from a culinary and a visual point of view, and that's almost 24/7. It opens first thing in the morning and in addition to an international breakfast, it also offers an Asian version with influences from traditional Chinese medicine. Small snacks are offered, whatever the time of day or night. The authentic South Asian menus are the highlight.

CAFES

Wien Tourismus / Karl Thomas

The Viennese coffee house has been an oasis of gemütlichkeit for ages. Since 2011, the traditional Viennese coffee house culture has even been part of the intangible cultural heritage of UNESCO. Traditional cafes entice visitors with a wide variety of coffee drinks, international newspapers and pastry creations. Modern representatives of the genre enrich the tradition with stylish flair. A close relative of the cafe is the pastry shop. Their specialty, pies and cakes, are the icing on Vienna's dolce vita in the form of bundt cake and sachertorte.

Café Landtmann beim Burgtheater

When Franz Landtmann opened this Viennese cafe in 1873 he was founding a coffee house institution. This place has hosted Sigmund Freud, Marlene Dietrich, Romy Schneider, Paul McCartney and Hillary Clinton, among others.

Café Central

Its large portico was lavishly restored in 1986 - and can be found just 100 meters on towards the university and Votive Church. The cafe has a long tradition. The atmosphere in Café Central today is business-like, plain and well maintained. Business people from the surrounding banks are the main guests during the week.

Griensteidl

Former literary cafe Griensteidl, which reopened in a new building on the same site in 1990, is located right on the Imperial Palace-Kohlmarkt-Graben-Stephansplatz tourist track, i.e. on Michaelerplatz. It is the ideal spot for visitors to Vienna to stretch their tired legs and recharge their batteries over a coffee. The atmosphere in the "old" Griensteidl is particularly legendary: there was barely a fin de siècle writer, actor, critic, architect or musician who did not come here. Almost all of the most significant pioneers of Viennese modernism gathered around the small marble table here: Hermann Bahr, Arthur Schnitzler, Hugo von Hofmannsthal, Karl Kraus, Hugo Wolf, Fritz Kreisler, Arnold Schönberg and many others.

Café Museum

The Café Museum was a meeting point for the big names from the turn of the century (Gustav Klimt, Egon Schiele, Oskar Kokoschka, Otto Wagner, etc.), having opened in 1899 close to the Naschmarkt and the Secession. The original very modest and down-to-earth creation by Adolf Loos, who subsequently became a regular, was in stark contrast with the historical opulence of the time and earned the venue its nickname "Café Nihilismus" (Cafe Nihilism). The interior decoration was replaced in 1931 by Josef Zotti, one of the most successful pupils of Josef Hoffmann and sadly almost forgotten today. After closing and modification work, the cafe was renovated in Zotti's style and reopened in 2010 in its new original splendor.

Café Drechsler

Café Drechsler at the Naschmarkt is a perfect example of the combination of tradition and a modern stylish ambience. The venue, which first opened its doors in 1919, was carefully renovated by renowned British architect Sir Terence Conran and since 2007 has presented itself to its guests as a "traditional Viennese coffee house in a 21st century style." DJs play here several times during the week instead of the more typical piano players.

Phil

Both a cafe and a store - the two central components of "phil" in Gumpendorfer Straße are hard to separate. This is because the store sells a selection of books, DVDs and vinyl which alternates constantly in its innovatively renovated 140-square-meter space. The cozy retro furniture is just perfect for sitting back and viewing the lists of products for sale printed in menu format over an espresso and a bite to eat.

Orlando di Castello

This place is one of the best breakfast venues in Vienna. And that is due in no small part to the excellent coffee, which is served here in countless varieties. The sweet treats, from croissants to small works of art, come from the establishment's own patisserie. Orlando di Castello is a great place to eat at any time of day. The chef brings New York flair to the plate with excellent steaks, pasta dishes and the obligatory Caesar's salad.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Wien Tourismus / Bryan Duffy

Top quality dancing and chilling – Vienna’s electronic music scene is, after all, famous around the world. Such a creative musical ambience is an ideal breeding ground for the latest musical creations: clubs such as Flex, Fluc, Rhiz and Pratersauna play electronic music by homegrown musicians who are also causing a sensation on the international scene. The musical styles have never been this diverse. Vienna’s many dance temples are the best venues for non-stop partying.

Volksgarten Club Disco

This disco in Vienna city center is located in the middle of a beautiful garden. The Volksgarten Club Disco has a long history and has remained a hot spot of Vienna’s party culture for decades, despite the fast-paced nature of club culture and has also been one of the city’s most attractive locations and central points for decades. The music consists of house, disco and party hits.

Fluc & Fluc Wanne

Club Fluc is located right next to Praterstern railway station, very close to the Giant Ferris Wheel. The apparently temporary architectural surroundings are perfect for a drink at the bar as well as for dancing. One level below, guests will find Fluc_Wanne, a former pedestrian subway, where DJs and bands ensure that they enjoy a good night. The music on offer ranges from experimental electronic tracks and techno to garage and industrial to indie rock. ## Pratersauna

The 1960s architecture with a pool in the garden is the perfect backdrop for fine electronic music and long parties. Different music is played on several floors inside the Pratersauna. People can also dance right next to the former sauna's plunge pool. The music ranges from minimal techno to electronic live acts. In summer, the parties spill out into the garden and onto the terrace. ## Flex

The Flex started the scene on the Danube Canal: the club has a punk past and hosts bands such as Arcade Fire, Stereo MCs and Attwenger, and DJs such as Jeff Mills and DJ DSL. Since 1990, the Flex has stood for the best sound of the city. While the original focus was on rock, these days a wide variety of genres are allowed to shine at the venue.

Rote Bar

Once the curtain falls at Vienna's Volkstheater the night life starts in the Rote Bar on the upper floor. Very close to the Museum of Natural History, the Museum of Fine Arts and the MuseumsQuartier, the scene starts under classical chandeliers in one of the city's most exciting locations. There is relaxed music playing the whole evening - with concerts, club nights, readings and exhibitions also taking place at sporadic times. A separate small entrance on the left next to the main entrance to the theater leads into the grand hall with red curtains and a new red bar counter which made the search for a name easy...

WUK

Located in the 9th district, the WUK combines 130 cultural and social initiatives inside the brick walls of a former locomotive factory. There have been exhibitions, theater performances, bizarre productions and pop concerts here for 30 years. Bands such as Iron & Wine fill the hall, and acts like Shantel & Bucovina Club Orchestra have long been regulars here.

Albertina Passage

The dinner club near the Vienna State Opera is an exciting combination of top-quality dining, a classic American bar and a club with live music in a futuristic setting. The dishes are a mix of international and Viennese cuisine. Guests can also dance to their heart's delight later in the evening when DJs take over the music program in the Albertina Passage. The futuristic curved cocktail bar and stage and walls are particularly eye-catching.

Lutz - Der Club

This club on Mariahilfer Straße is a spot for sophisticated revelers. The basement of this turn-of-the-century building provides approximately 300 square meters of an exquisite club atmosphere including a dance floor. Its noble architecture and classic design make Lutz Der Club an urban spot and the ideal supplement to the dinner bar in the building mezzanine.

Platzhirsch

A young and sophisticated crowd parties at the "Platzhirsch," located centrally close to the Opera. R&B, techno and disco are played here every weekend in this exact order. The club mainly attracts students, who love Platzhirsch not only for its music, but also because it's just a fun place where you can meet other people. The club is in the heart of Vienna, not far from the Opera and very close to other places for going out.

Red Room

A stylish club with a cocktail bar in the basement of well-known restaurant Comida in Vienna's Ringstrasse. This bar has everything the heart desires: mirror features, lots and lots of red velvet and a very long bar. The music on offer is high-quality soul, R&B and similar music from 1968 to the present day, and there is a selection of drinks and cocktails to satisfy every desire. This has also been noticed on the Vienna scene, and it may well be that Hubertus von Hohenlohe can be found on the decks here, or at least in the extensive bar...

Grelle Forelle

The Grelle Forelle has two floors offering a sound between house, techno and minimal. Bookings here don't feature mainstream artists, but famous figures from the underground scene instead. The international DJs regularly play to a full house on Fridays and Saturdays. With an area of 1,000 square meters, the Grelle Forelle has plenty of space for dancing. Highlights include the sound system designed especially for the club and the lighting concept by the Viennese visual artist collective Neon Golden.

U4

Hardly any other discotheque in the country can bathe in the glow of so many names of international repute like the U4: Prince, Sade, Grace Jones, Nirvana and Johnny Depp have all paid a visit; it was a living room for Falco and the Vienna scene. In the meantime, the fourth generation of guests is provided with a party atmosphere on two floors as well as the necessary drinks. The theme changes every evening and brings bliss to suit every taste to the establishment on U-Bahn line 4: from classic funky disco, to official rock, to fitting reviews of the last decades. ## Laderaum on the Badeschiff

The Badeschiff (pool boat) has laid anchor in Vienna between Schwedenplatz and Urania on the bank of the Danube Canal. The urban design sets the ambience. The lighting running along the counter and behind the DJ console illuminates every facet of the cargo bay, making it the perfect underwater disco.

Roxy

The Roxy is one of the main places to go for soulful house, disco and hiphop in Vienna and has a colorful history.

Musical trends change just like the guests do. Today the Roxy is the meeting place for lovers of funky grooves which rarely make their way into the charts but which create an excellent atmosphere and are also appreciated by the scene.

The Loft

Situated directly on Vienna's Gürtel, near U6 station Thaliastraße, the location offers everything that makes going out fun. On the ground floor is a small cafe, in which exhibitions and mini-concerts are held. On the first floor is a large bar with cozy seating areas, perfect for having a chat and listening to music at a comfortable volume. There is a fantastic KV2 system in the basement, which plays all types of music and always gets the dance floor bubbling.

Sass Music Club

Barely any other clubs are in as central a location as the Sass. Located at Karlsplatz 1, the club is near 3 subway lines and is right at the center of Vienna's transport hub.

International and national guests ensure that the crowd has a good time here every week from Thursday to Saturday.

Tanzcafe Jenseits

Tanzcafé Jenseits is the perfect spot for anyone looking for a particularly bizarre night out. Almost nobody leaves this wild dance cafe before daybreak, as it has as alternative an appeal as its name (which means 'the other world') suggests. This applies just as much to the guests as to the surroundings. The DJs play trashy music and guarantee musical entertainment with a mix of funk, soul, hits and pop.

Donau

The Donau is unique in Vienna for several reasons: guests can listen to electronic dance music from some of the capital's hottest underground DJs seven days a week, with relatively cheap drinks and excellent cocktails. It offers diverse genres: all forms of techno are played, including minimal, house and dubstep. However, finding the bar is not so easy: the Donau is hidden away behind a grey metal door in a side street between Mariahilferstraße and the MuseumsQuartier. But anyone who does find it won't believe their eyes or ears once inside.

Chaya Fuera

It's the diversity of the music that provides the special appeal of this new club in the 7th district. The owners' intention is to give their guests a musical surprise. In the club itself the walls are part of the musical entertainment with 20 projectors showing visuals from international artists. This way the otherwise sober yet cozy club has a resplendent new look every evening. The bar serves cocktails specially created for Chaya Fuera. The mix of guests is as colorful as the music.

SHOPPING

Wien Tourismus / Peter Rigaud

An original souvenir for friends at home or a pretty memento for yourself: shopping is part of the pleasure of a Vienna vacation. An overview of the city's most attractive shopping areas, including a few "secret tips."

Kärntner Straße

The route along Kärntner Straße from the Vienna State Opera to Stephansplatz contains one famous fashion chain after the other. Worth a look: Steffl department store with its luxury designers and fabulous panoramic elevator. Peek & Cloppenburg is almost next door and is another architectural highlight. The Swarovski store offers a particularly special shopping experience, with crystal trends from the areas of fashion, jewelry, accessories as well as decoration, crystalline figures and optical precision instruments presented in glamorous surroundings. More information on www.wien.info/en/shopping-wining-dining/shopping/shopping-in-the-old-city

Address: Kärntner Straße, district 1, Vienna

Public Transport: Underground: U1, U3 (Stephansplatz), U1, U2, U4 (Karlsplatz)

Kohlmarkt & Goldenes Quartier

The luxury shopping area Kohlmarkt offers flagship stores for all brands from Armani to Versace, with a lot of jewelry stores also present here. There has been even more luxury on offer since the fall of 2012 - in the neighboring "Goldenes Quartier" or Golden Quarter, on Tuchlauben and Am Hof: the new "Golden Quarter" provides a shopping area of around 11,500 square meters with stores including Louis Vuitton, Armani, Prada and Miu Miu.

Address: Tuchlauben, district 1, Vienna

Public Transport: Underground: U1, U3 (Stephansplatz)

Mariahilfer Straße

This traditional shopping street for the Viennese starts close to the Ringstrasse and goes by the Westbahnhof railway station to the Technical Museum. Shoppers will find one store after the other within the Vienna Gürtel, between Ringstrasse and the Westbahnhof. In between they will also find the department store Gerngross, large branches of the European clothing chains such as H&M, C&A and Peek & Cloppenburg and also the Humanic shoe store. There are plenty of small stores in the side streets which offer some great products.

Lindengasse

A narrow side street close to the major street Mariahilfer Straße is causing a stir among fashion insiders: in the center of the creative district of Neubau, Lindengasse has evolved into a center for young fashion design with a large number of small stores. Freaks & Icons sells t-shirts and blazers made of sweatshirt material with puffer sleeves and inspired by street graffiti. Hungarian fashion label Printa has also taken up residence in Lindengasse. The small boutique tempts shoppers with jewelry and accessories including sponge fabric pouches.

Blossoming confectionary

The blossoming confectionary of praline artist Michael Diewald is unique. In his workshop in the 6th district, he conjures up fine delicacies such as lime and elderflower marzipan in turmeric or chamomile chocolate. He also experiments with wild fruit, herbs and dried flowers preserved in sugar. These are combined with chocolate and marzipan. Drop by the little confectionary workshop to watch the team at work and sample the produce!

UNIQUE SPOTS

Vienna Tourist Board / Ronja Spranger

Vienna has something to offer. Apart from the "classic" sights, there are many hidden and perhaps unprepossessing places in Vienna. Here are a few secret tips that should definitely be included on a trip to Vienna.

New campus of the Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration

There's space here for 25,000 students and 1,500 employees; the building cost EUR 492 million and took 41 months to complete. The new campus of the Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration is the new architectural landmark next to the Prater. The building was conceived and designed by internationally acclaimed architects. The futuristic architecture is a real head-turner.

More information on www.wien.info/en/sightseeing/architecture-design/wu-campus

Public Transport: Underground: U2 (Krieau or Messe Prater)
Phone: +43 1 3133 60
Internet: www.wu.ac.at

Augarten

through an extensive area criss-crossed by shady avenues

The Augarten is one of the oldest Baroque gardens in Vienna. Visitors to the park, which is laid out in the French style, can marvel at lavish flower landscapes and walk lined by chestnuts, elms, lindens, ashes and maples.

Amongst other things, the Augarten is home to the Vienna Boys' Choir in the Augartenpalais. With some luck, the Boys' Choir can also be heard rehearsing here.

Public Transport: Underground: U2 (Taborstraße)
Email: office@bundesgaerten.at

Zeinhofergasse

Situated in Margareten district is Zeinhofergasse, described as being the most beautiful lane in Vienna. The historic houses with their wonderfully planted front gardens present an idyllic streetscape.

Address: Zeinhofergasse, district 5, Vienna
Public Transport: Underground: U4 (Kettenbrückengasse or Pilgramgasse)

Jewish Cemetery

The Jewish Cemetery in the 9th district is the oldest maintained Jewish cemetery in Vienna. Its history reaches back to the middle of the 16th century. It is currently possible to view around 350 maintained grave monuments in the cemetery, which is located in the inner courtyard of the Rossau Retirement Home.

Graffiti scene along Danube Canal

The embankment walls of the Danube Canal form a single, giant canvas. Graffiti artists are allowed to spray their artworks there as they choose and perfectly legally, too.

There is much worth looking at amongst it all.

Art in the public domain

Works of art can be seen not only in Vienna's museums and galleries. Art in the public domain can be found in many selected places across the city - from installations to sculptures. There are currently 45 exhibit points. More information on the individual works of art and where they are located can be found here: www.wien.info/en/sightseeing/museums-exhibitions/art-in-the-public-domain

Sightseeing by boat

Vienna can be explored in comfort from the water: either on board an excursion boat of the DDSG Blue Danube or from the Twin City Liner along the Danube Canal, from the National Park boat through the Danube water meadows, or even on a romantic boat picnic on the Old Danube. It's the perfect way to marvel at the wild and beautiful natural landscape along the Danube. It is also possible to rent a boat on the Old Danube on warm summer's days and explore the city in private.

The Vienna Woods

The Vienna Woods are considered the green lung of Vienna and take in the seven Viennese districts of Hietzing, Penzing, Ottakring, Hernals, Währing, Döbling and Liesing.

Guided tours are held to explore different habitats. They also offer a colorful family-oriented program and pamper participants with regional culinary treats. The Vienna Woods are criss-crossed by a network of signposted walking and hiking paths and are therefore an ideal local recreational area, which can be easily reached with Vienna's public transport system.

In a horse-drawn carriage through Vienna

A ride in a carriage pulled by two horses is a highlight of a trip to Vienna for many tourists. Today it is hard to imagine the cityscape without the Viennese horse-drawn carriages. A tour in a horse-drawn carriage provides a very cozy way to explore the beauty of Vienna. Carriage ranks can be found at Stephansplatz, Michaelerplatz, Heldenplatz, Albertinaplatz, Petersplatz and outside the Burgtheater.

Church am Steinhof

The church built in the Art Nouveau style by Otto Wagner characterizes Vienna's architectural cityscape and has become a modern symbol. Characteristic components of Art Nouveau architecture were the ornaments that were mainly used in the exterior design. This is above all visible on the dome of the church.

Yellow Fog

In the 1st district, marvel at a breathtaking light installation by the artist Olafur Eliasson on the façade of the Verbund headquarters on Am Hof square in the middle of Vienna's Old City. The work was first shown in New York in 1998 and can be seen on permanent display in Vienna. The lighting effects can be watched for an hour every day at dusk.
