THE CITY

Close to Lake Garda, Verona is a city of rare beauty, set back against the hills to the north and laid out harmoniously along the smooth curves of the Adige river. Founded as a commercial and political town in Roman times, traces of this period remain with the massive Arena, the Roman theatre, the Gavi Arch and the Borsari gate, as well as the archaeological area of Porta Leoni and that of the Scaligeri excavations. Large sections of the ancient walls are still standing and they bear witness – along with the monumental gates and other fortifications – to the strategic importance of the city.

Verona is also full of prestigious cultural institutions, from the ancient Civic Capitolare Library to the university and the oldest Music academy in the world. The Fondazione Arena has been producing stunning opera productions for its 15.000 capacity audience for over a hundred years, and every summer an international crowd packs the open-air theatre to cheer each performance.

DINING

Veronese cuisine is extremely tasty. Many dishes are meat-based and you should, at the very least, try the pastissada de caval—a horse-meat stew cooked in red wine with polenta (a sort of thick porridge made with maize flour). There are many different kinds of risotto available, such as risi e bisi—with peas, or coi bruscandoli—with herbs, and rich homemade pasta, especially gnocchi. Don't miss the soppressa all'aglio (salami with garlic).

Ristorante Il Desco

This place is famous all over Italy and has two stars in the Michelin guide. Recommended dishes include maltagliati (homemade pasta) with tomato and aubergine, goose foie gras and fillet of S.Peter with porcini mushroom, artichoke, lemon sauce and thyme.

Address: Via Dietro San Sebastiano, 7 Verona
Phone: +39 045 595 358
Internet: www.ristoranteildesco.it

Antica Bottega Del Vino

This is a historic and attractive osteria that serves typical Veronese cuisine. The risotto all'amarone (a typical red wine of the region) is highly recommended. You can also get a simple glass of wine with canapés here, the wine list is very good. During the opera season, this place is frequented by singers.

CAFES

Photo: Diego

Coffee is as important as pasta for the Italians. If you want to act like a local, there are some unwritten rules you should keep in mind when ordering your coffee.

- Capuccino, Caffè latte or any other kind of coffee based on milk should only be drunk in the morning.
- When you order an espresso, don't use the word espresso which actually just is a technical phrase. Ask the barista for simply "un caffè".
- And last but not least, when ordering "un caffè" you don't sit down. Stand at the bar and drink your coffee on foot.

Either you feel like blending in or acting like a true tourist, sitting down at a table, there are plenty of cafés to choose from in Verona.

Pasticceria Flego

Recommended for its excellent pastries and cakes that can be enjoyed on the outside terrace. On the menu you will also find a tasty breakfast.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

People in Verona—and in the northeast of Italy in general—like to meet in osterias (canteen) during the day and drink wine, white from midday till late afternoon and red in the evening. Hence the (false) myth that people in this area are often drunk—in fact, they usually limit themselves to just a glass or two all day and always combine their wine with canapés, salami and other snacks.

In the winter and spring, Verona's night life is rather quiet, and if you want to meet people you will need to visit an osteria or try the clubs and discos. In summer though, things brighten as many people choose to sit outside or walk through the streets of the city centre.

SHOPPING

Shopping in Italy is a must! If you want to buy fashionable clothing, bags, shoes and accessories you should try via Mazzini, via Cappello and corso Portoni Corsari. Here you will find Max Mara, Cartier and many other well-known labels.

People fond of antiques or paintings should visit corso Sant'Anastasia and the area next to it where there are a number of antique shops Antichità Due Torri, Antichità Sottoriva, and art galleries (Boxart, Arts Nouveaux). On the third Saturday of every month there is also an antique market in piazza San Zeno with furniture, jewellery, stamps and even old cars and motorcycles.

If you want to learn cooking the Italian way, there is a market in piazza Erbe where you can buy food products. Around the city centre there are many wine shops, such as the Istituto Enologico Italiano (via Sottoriva, 7), that have a rich selection of international and Italian wines and is located in a lovely old basement with arches.
